

ISPPP 2021 – Sponsorship and Exhibition

The ISPPP conference series is a well-established scientific event taking place alternately in Europe and the US since November 1981. After taking place in Salzburg (2016) and Berlin (2018), in 2021 the 40th edition of this conference will be held in Porto, Portugal on Nov. 7 – 10, 2021 (www.isppp.net). The scientific committee warrants an excellent scientific program with renowned keynote speakers in the field of biomolecules and molecular assemblies' separation and purification.

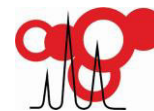

Your representation on this scientific event will allow you to contact and network with decision-makers from academia and the biopharmaceutical industry. You will also have the possibility to actively participate in the scientific event by presenting your latest developments in an oral or poster presentation (after submission to review by the scientific committee). In order to maximize networking possibilities, the exhibition will be integrated into the coffee break area.

Your sponsorship enables us to give a young investigator's award covering travel and registration costs for an excellent young researcher chosen by the scientific committee as well as poster prizes to the three best posters presented at ISPPP 2021. Furthermore, your contribution enables us to keep registration fees low for students and academia which facilitates the access to ISPPP 2021 also for scientists from less-privileged countries.

We offer different sponsoring and exhibition packages (if interested we can send you further information) but individual requests for tailor-made sponsorships are welcome. In order to maximize the effect of your representation on the conference home page we would appreciate your response as soon as possible.

The conference will take place at the Crowne Plaza Porto hotel and we are expecting around 120 attendees from universities, research institutions and industry working in the field of separation and purification of biopolymers. We hope that we can run the symposium at the scheduled date. We are continuously monitoring the global health risks associated with COVID-19 and its potential impact to Symposium participants. The health, safety and well-being of our community remains our highest priority and If necessary, the symposium date will be re-scheduled.

We are looking forward to welcoming you at ISPPP 2021.

Sponsoring & Exhibition Opportunities

As a sponsor at ISPPP 2021 your organisation will be associated with high level scientific research & development in the field of separation of biomolecules.

The conference is expected to attract more than 100 people from universities, research institutions and companies from all over the world.

We offer the sponsoring and exhibition packages listed below but individual requests for customized sponsorships are welcome. In order to maximize the effect of your sponsoring representation on the conference home page we would appreciate your response as soon as possible.
